SINGAPORE'S HEAVY GUNS BLAST AT FOE

Japs Must Be Stopped Cold Is Order from General Wavell

REINFORCEMENTS ENROUTE, PROMISE

Japs, However, Give No Sign Yet of Concerted Onslaught

(By Associated Press)
SINGAPORE, Feb. 4.—Heavy guns of embattled Singapore thundered into action today against the massing ranks of the Japanese invasion army across the Strait of Johore where Generalissimo Sir Archibald Wavell declared the enemy must be stopped cold.

Wavell cheered on the defenders of the mighty stronghold with the promise that "great reinforcements" of American and British troops are being sent to wrest the initiative from the Japanese, and called grimly for a stand like Tobruk to hold the hosts of the Mikado until that help arrives.

Order of the Day
His call took the form of an order of the day (presumably issued from his headquarters on Java).

"I look to you all," he declared, "to fight this battle without further thought of retreat."

Despite the sudden flurry of artillery and air activity, there was no sign that the Japanese were about to begin their expected attempt to cross Johore strait, and a communique described the general situation as unchanged.

The announcement said new Japanese air assaults caused some damage but few military casualties. It was acknowledged officially, however, that 22 persons were killed and 60 injured by air raiders yesterday.

Taking advantage of each passing hour free from attack, soldiers and civilians labored shoulder to shoulder to strengthen Singapore's defenses while anti-aircraft crews manned their guns to ward off Japanese air raiders.

Mask Machine Guns
In the tangled mangrove swamps along Johore strait, across which the Japanese were massing on the Malay mainland, troops familiar with the art of camouflage cunningly masked new machine guns, rifle pits and gun emplacements with which every chink in the island's armor was being stoppered.

Battle-hardened imperial troops, meanwhile, worked swiftly to instruct newly arrived reinforcements in the tricks of war learned in the Malay jungles, where for more than six weeks they fought the invaders.

British military men declared that the Japanese delayed in launching their expected assault would make the attack more difficult and more costly.

POTTERS USE RAISE FOR DEFENSE BONDS

CADIZ, Feb. 4.—L. P. Reese, owner of the Selo, O., Pottery Co., is raising his 800 employees a 10 per cent wage increase and thereby helping the nation's war effort.

Employees agreed to follow Reese's suggestion that the raise be put into defense bonds. The voluntary pay raise was announced at a mass meeting of all workers. The shirt-sleeved plant owner—a veteran of World War I—told his potters:

"Your brothers, sons or cousins must have guns to fight with. In my estimation one boy's life is worth more than all the bonds we can buy. I don't want these boys to go like I did. I never saw a cannon until I heard them shooting at the front lines, and I was in the artillery."

Reese, penniless when he took over the Selo pottery nine years ago, declared today his plant would become a "first line defense industry" by buying all the defense bonds he can.

DEATH TAKES D. U SMITH, 73

Veteran Grocer Succumbs; Funeral Service To Be Held Friday

Daniel U. Smith, 73, of 230 W. Tenth st., veteran Salem grocer, died at 10:20 p. m. Tuesday. He had been in failing health for the last 18 months.

Born at Sallineville July 4, 1868, the son of Daniel and Mary Smith, he had been in the grocery business here for 35 years.

His first grocery association began in Pittsburgh in 1889 when he joined the Joseph H. Horne Co., working for that firm and the C. H. Rowe Co. for seven years.

In 1899, the same year that he married Mary Ellenor Marshall of Sallineville, he went into business for himself, opening up a store at Avonmore, Pa., near Pittsburgh.

Several years later, on Feb. 1, 1907, he came to Salem to form a partnership with a cousin, D. A. Smith, purchasing the J. N. Brown grocery at the corner of Main and Depot (now E. State st. and S. Ellisworth ave.).

This partnership continued until 1926 when Daniel U. Smith bought out his cousin's interest. Two years later Mr. Smith was joined in the business by his son, T. Emerson Smith. The store, now known as the Smith Co., is situated at 240 E. State st.

The second oldest grocer in Salem in point of service, Mr. Smith had served several terms as a member of the executive board of the Ohio Retail Grocers' association and had been a member of city council on two occasions.

He was a Mason and a member of the Presbyterian church.

Surviving are his wife Mary; a son, T. Emerson; a daughter, Mrs. A. B. Thach of Nashville, Tenn.; two grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Jason Moore, of Salem.

The body is at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home, where the service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in charge of Rev. R. D. Walter. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends, who are asked to omit flowers, may call at the funeral home Thursday evening.

Johnson's court yesterday afternoon, included Orrie Dotson of Lisbon, Cassius Lindsay of Washingtonville, Carl Jones of Salem, Verda Pasco and Minnie Schmid of Salem and Elizabeth Nuzum of Lisbon. The latter, who is 72 years old, was fined $10 and costs.

BEAVERBROOK WILL DIRECT PRODUCTION

Takes New Cabinet Position: Created by Minister Churchill

POST IS SIMILAR TO NELSON'S IN U. S.

Harmonious operation with United States Is Objective of Plan

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 4.—Prime Minister Churchill created the new cabinet post of minister of war production today, an assignment aimed specifically at peak cooperation between Britain and the United States, and entrusted it to Lord Beaverbrook, one of his most valued aides.

The new ministry roughly parallels the office of Donald M. Nelson in directing the United States war production.

Making that comparison himself in the house of commons last week, Churchill said:

"All the resources of our two countries are now pooled in shipping, munitions and raw materials; and some similar office—I will not say with the same scope but with similar scope—must be created here if harmonious and complete working between Great Britain and the United States is maintained at this high level."

Succeeded by Duncan

Lord Beaverbrook is succeeded as minister of supply by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, until now president of the board of trade.

Sir Rae is a British industrialist and a former minister of supply.

The assignments did not include Sir Stafford Cripps, former British ambassador to Moscow who, it had been predicted, would be named to a cabinet post "which will come as a complete surprise."

Praising Lord Beaverbrook in his recent war review to parliament, Churchill reported:

"We are producing twice as many and far more complicated guns than we did in the peak of 1917 and 1918. Tank production has doubled in the past six months. In aircraft production there is a steady increase not only in the numbers but in the size and quality of aircraft."

HOUSE VOTES FOR NAVY INCREASES

GOP Stresses Fact Party Helped In Success Of Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The house agreed today to accept Senate increases in the navy appropriations bill, boosting the total to $26,495,263,474, largest in history.

The conference report then went to the senate for approval.

House action, on voice vote, came only a few minutes after Rep. Ditter (R-Pa.) took the floor to assert that the Republican minority had contributed wholeheartedly in steering the big measure through congress.

He made that statement, he said, because a charge "made within the past few days" that the minority was not cooperating—apparently a reference to a radio address by Edward Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, in which Flynn advised against election this fall of a congress hostile to President Roosevelt.

The Russians announced officially that they had captured 800 German troops and captured vast quantities of equipment.

Where's The Navy? Forget It--That's What Jap Propagandists Want U.S. People To Ask

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Wide World Service Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—If you ask "where is the U. S. navy?"—you are repeating Japanese propaganda, a question they picked up in America and want you to keep on asking.

If you ask whether Knox, Simpson or Roosevelt may have made some slips—again it is Japanese propaganda.

It makes no difference, either that your question is sincere and original or, if a repeated phrase, that its source is proper—it is still part of Japanese propaganda.

For it is one of many the Tokyo short-wave radio is suggesting to Americans every day.

Hope to Spread Doubt

Often the questions are selected from ideas spontaneous among Americans. The Japanese echoes just at present concentrate on those which might, Tokyo hopes, spread doubt, distrust and disension.

This does not mean that honest opinion should be barred, but that it is well for Americans to realize the nature of enemy propaganda.

There about 9,000,000 American radio sets equipped for short wave listening. How many tune in is not known, but the number is probably small.

The number, however, is not so important. Agents and sympathizers can listen, take the cues, spread them as catch phrases. Careless patriots make assists.

To scorn these propaganda ideas is to risk a mental Pearl Harbor, for sometimes one of these propaganda hits sweeps the articulate world.

The threatened invasion of Australia may be a sample. Tokyo's short wave began saying that Australia was isolated, that she should put all her fighting forces in position for a Japanese invasion. Along with the military situation in the south Pacific this was dynamic.

The talks in the house of commons, the Australian official statements, the discussion of American assistance, all may have a different origin. The fact remains that they parallel the Japanese propaganda of the moment.

It might be considered unusual for Tokyo to broadcast important military information of this sort.

HITLER FACES NEW DANGERS

Hunger, Privation Prompt Revolts In Conquered Areas of Europe

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The tales of woe which are pouring out of the Nazified Europe that Adolf has built probably represent, when viewed in the aggregate, a greater danger to the fuhrer than the devastation which is stalking the ranks of his armies on the Russian steppes.

The over-night news carried a fresh crop of developments which emphasize the chaos into which the unhappy continent has sunk. With each succeeding day we get more vividly the picture of a Germany which is still powerful but which stands as an island in a sea of disaster and despair.

More Than Armed War

This means that Herr Hitler is driven to wage war against more than armed forces. He is fighting to keep from being engulfed in this growing chaos himself. And that's a bit of encouragement for the Allies to go along with.

Hunger and privation are widespread throughout the continent.

Small wonder then that the peoples in Nazi bondage are revolting against their overlords. You see it in France, Norway, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Holland—in short, wherever the heavy hand of Hitler rests. The latest straw to show how the wind blows comes from Stockholm today—news that the Nazis have imposed a state of siege on Amsterdam because of public demonstrations and sabotage.

In calling attention to this situation it isn't my purpose to create a wave of optimism—though we are entitled to take encouragement from it—but to help clarify the status of the war. It can be seen how necessary it is to strike hard at Hitler now as his difficulties increase, and not give him any chance

CITY STILL SHORT OF RED CROSS GOAL

Salem's campaign for a $10,000 Red Cross war chest quota is still far away from its goal, chapter officials announced today as they renewed pleas for additional contributions.

Those who have not contributed or who expect to increase their contributions are asked to act just as soon as it is possible.

COUNCIL SHELVES PARKING METERS

Proposal Will Be "Laid Aside for Awhile", Says Safety Committee

A proposal that city council approve installation of parking meters in the business district has been shelved for the time being.

Councilman Charles R. Heaton, chairman of the safety committee, reported at council's regular meeting last night that the parking meter plan would be laid aside for awhile.

His committee, together with the streets and alleys committee, had studied for the past two weeks the request of a parking meter firm to install the meters here on a trial basis.

A committee of residents from the N. Madison ave. area appeared before council last night to seek a revival of the McKinley Heights sanitary sewer project which was abandoned several years ago when all property owners were unable to pay their share of cost in the undertaking.

The new request was referred to the sewer committee.

The safety and finance committee of council expects to meet next Monday night to consider Russell Jones' request for a $20 a month salary for his job as the licensed operator of the police department's short-wave radio station.

Council approved the light committee's recommendation that a light be installed on Water st. between the Memorial building and the public library.

LARGE BASIN SOUTH OF CITY IS PROPOSED

Three-Million Gallons Capacity Would Remove Shortage Danger

GOVERNMENT HELP MAY BE OBTAINED

Engineer Also Proposes Overhead Storage In East End of City

City council last night gave approval to plans of City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff for constructing a three-million gallon reservoir at a highly elevated point one mile south of the corporation limits near the Winona rd., as the first step in establishing an adequate water storage to meet increased and anticipated demands.

Acceptance of the proposal will permit the engineer to turn the project over to the state board of health for its necessary O. K.

Two-fold Program

The program, for which federal aid will be sought, is actually two-fold. Barkhoff proposes to create, first, the three-million-gallon concrete storage tank south of Salem, and then erect a quarter-million-gallon overhead storage in the east section of the city.

Original plans of council were to construct a one million, six hundred-gallon storage tank in the east end of the city, but difficulty in obtaining the needed steel plates, now so vital to the nation's war effort, prompted the engineer to turn to the reservoir proposal which had previously been discussed and recommended by outside engineers.

The east end project, however, will be kept alive for probable completion at a later date.

Plans are to construct the three-million-gallon concrete reservoir at a point where the ground elevation is 1,385 feet above sea level, centrally located for clear water storage, for either ground water or surface supply.

The estimated total cost of the reservoir and connecting mains is $55,674.60. The engineer's report to city council showed. The steel tank originally proposed would have cost $69,892. The quarter-million-gallon tank, designed as project No. 2, will cost $26,452.

In supporting the reservoir project, Barkhoff pointed out that federal aid undoubtedly could be secured in financing the undertaking; that the construction would not require the use of materials needed for defense; that the storage basin would be so situated that the entire capacity would be available for usage by gravity lines to the city mains, and that more adequate fire protection, on a less expensive scale, would be derived.

The engineer explained that with the quarter-million-gallon tank placed in the east end of Salem in the future, a uniform balance pressure will be maintained universally throughout the city, and as the city grows another quarter-million-gallon tank would be erected in the north end of the city.

With reference also to the future surface supply, it is desirable to have a 16-inch delivery line to the city from the proposed reservoir, he added.

Barkhoff pointed out that WPA assistance on labor and $3,000 in

WORK IS STARTED ON STATE ROUTE 45

Construction work has started on State Route 45 just north of Route 224 at Ellsworth, according to Homer E. Anderson, Ohio department of highways division engineer at Ravenna.

The Kelley-Meyer company of Youngstown was awarded the contract for $71,844. Three and nine-tenths miles will be included in the improvement. The west fork of Meander creek will be straightened for a distance of about 800 feet, which will permit relocation and straightening of the road for a distance of about 1,500 feet, eliminating a bad grade and curve.

A double-barrelled concrete box culvert with each barrel 12x7 1/2 feet and 74 feet long will replace an existing concrete slab bridge. The new road will be 20 feet wide and will be surfaced with asphaltic concrete.

This section of State Route 45, the Salem-Warren road, has needed this improvement badly. It is scheduled for completion on July 31, Anderson said.

CONGRESS FOR THE DURATION

This will be one year without suspense about a congressional adjournment date. Sen. Hill, the Democratic whip, has said so and presumably means that a continuous session will be the policy of the majority.

It is a congressional election year, in which congressmen normally spend all summer and fall building fences and laying lines for reelection. This essential work in 1942 will have to be done by remote control, or while the congressmen are on recess.

On the other hand, barring a great upset in the shape of things, this should be an excellent year for sitting tight and letting nature take its course, which probably would result in reelection of most of the incumbents. It doesn't look like the kind of year when the fruit is going to fall into the laps of many hopeful candidates to succeed the incumbents.

Fortunately, the silly rumor about calling off the election has been mailed to the barn door. There will be elections as usual, even though everything else involved is unusual.

THE FUNDAMENTAL ABSURDITY

Mayor LaGuardia and Civilian Defense Director LaGuardia are going to part company and the latter will never be seen again. In making the announcement that he would give up one of his two full-time jobs, M. LaGuardia—one and the same with the mayor and director—seemed inclined to take a few nasty cracks at his critics.

The fundamental absurdity of his position as holder of two positions was determined by the people's convictions about the gravity of the war. They believed the directorship of civilian defense was worth all the time of at least a whole LaGuardia and preferably a LaGuardia of nobler proportions than the one they sometimes glimpse. In the same way, they believed there was something intrinsically wrong in the idea of Messrs. Knudsen and Hillman sharing divided authority for production, which they did until recently.

What it amounts to is that a big job either is big enough to require a whole man or small enough not to be called a job at all.

THIS IS WHAT WE MEAN

The federal government cannot cut down expenses, it says. Or if it is forced to cut down, against its better judgment, the public will suffer. Perhaps so.

But what most observers mean when they talk about cutting down expenses has nothing to do with the public. They wouldn't stop the flow of seeds to grateful constituents, nor would they so much as whisper that the armament program might be subject to corner-cutting.

They would put a stop to such palpably foolish practices as sending out single sheets of 8x10 paper in heavy brown 10x14 paper envelopes. The offender in the latest instance to reach this newspaper is the war department. If paper must be saved—and no one is going to argue about that—the war department should be helping to set the pace, not giving the conservation program the horse laugh with an envelope more suitable for sending a 10-foot length of chain than a single sheet of paper.

WHY NOT REMEMBER MACARTHUR?

The careful conditioning of the American public mind for loss of the Philippines has not turned out favorably. Gen. MacArthur and his small but capable army are doing too good a job. What might have appeared to be an unavoidable circumstance of war will appear now, if it must happen, to have been a great and tragic miscalculation.

Gen. MacArthur, with a small and not too well equipped force, has proved his contention that the Philippines can be defended. Even if he finally is defeated, which still is the probability in his precarious predicament, he has shown what could have been done with a larger and better equipped defensive army. And in so doing he has given his countrymen an example of skill and efficiency that has done more to raise their spirits than any other circumstance of the war. On the grounds that Pearl Harbor is not a pleasant memory, it would be much better idea to remember MacArthur, who was ready.

Tobruk has seemed a formidable bastion, but judging from the radio commentators who have fallen before its pronunciation Agadaba seems dead, too.

LEND-LEASE FUND GOES UP

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Official sources said today that lend-lease appropriations now total $23,400,000,000 and probably would be increased by several more billion dollars in the next few weeks.

At the same time, they revealed fundamental changes in lend-lease procedure designed to simplify and speed up the pooling of the resources of the United Nations in line with President Roosevelt's recent announcement concerning joint raw materials, munitions and shipping arrangements.

Direct appropriations to lend-lease total $13,000,000,000, and officials pointed out that provisions were inserted in recent military, naval and maritime appropriations earmarking additional large amounts for lend-lease.

Under new procedure, the direct lend-lease appropriations will be used, in the future, only for food, raw materials and other non-military items.

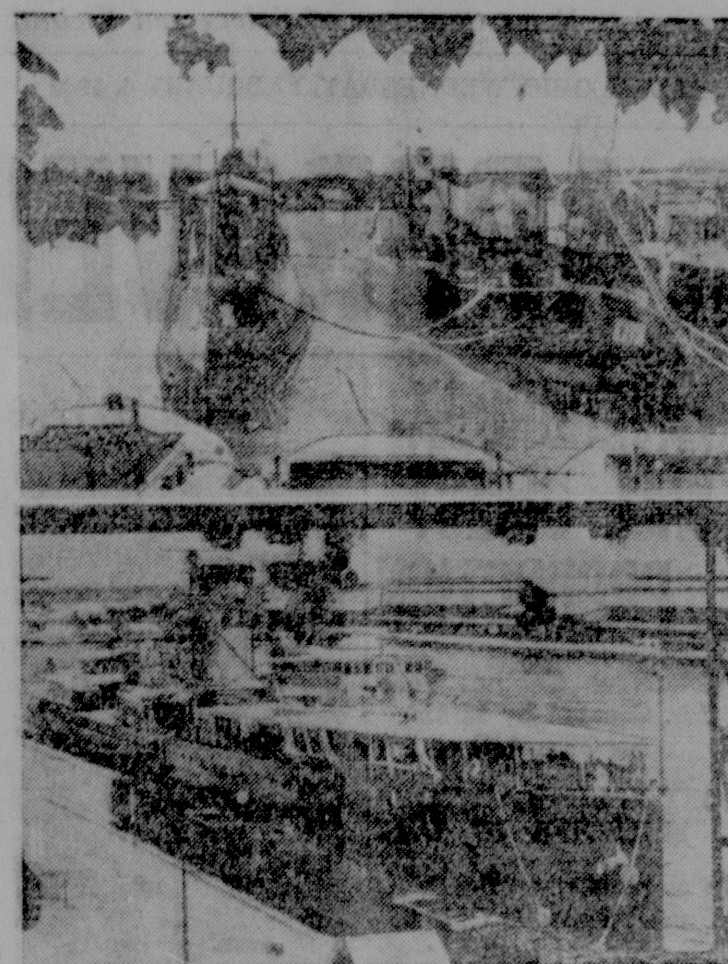

Hereafter, for instance, lend-lease airplanes will be supplied out of the army and navy appropriations. Merchant ships will be out of the maritime commission funds. The recent army air corps appropriation specifically provided that $4,000,000,000 worth of the material could be used for lend-lease purposes. Similarly, the navy appropriation which has been approved by both houses of congress contains a $2,000,000,000 lend-lease item. The recent maritime commission appropriation authorized the leasing of $1,600,000,000 of new merchant vessels to our allies. Other allocations were incorporated in other appropriations.

The new method of handling military supplies for lend-lease was devised to obviate the necessity of negotiating separate contracts for American and lend-lease needs.

Formerly, if the British wanted 1,000 airplanes, they filed a request with lend-lease, which referred the request to the army or navy, which did the actual contracting. The lend-lease agency never did any buying itself; only kept the books.

Under the new system, the army will set out to buy all the airplanes it can, and the new joint United States-British munitions assignment board will figure out what country can use the planes to the best advantage of the allied cause. Lend-lease will still keep the books, however.

testines. "Irritable colon" (the colon is the large intestine) is probably a better term.

Mucous colitis has a much narrower meaning and applies to a special group of cases of unstable colon and periodic attacks of mucous diarrhea, alternating with constipation. There is always a sense of fullness or tightness, if not actually cramping in the abdomen. "Tension headache" is common.

It is a fairly common disease, certainly a troublesome one—hardly a mail comes to me without three or four letters asking for advice on this subject. The condition is often misdiagnosed. It is probably responsible for the removal of more undiseased appendices than any other one cause—the cramps are over the appendix region in 78 per cent of cases. It may result in chronic invalidism. Most of the sufferers are victims of the cathartic habit. It accompanies many of the states of emotional tension encountered in daily life.

Nervous Tension—Emotional tension—nervous tension—that is the first impression the patient with mucous colitis gives. This has suggested to two Boston physicians a study of the physiological and emotional reaction of their patients.

It is a disease of early adult life—the average age of onset is 23 years. Examining the patient, the colon can often be felt through the abdominal wall as a tender, rubber-like tube. The inside of the bowel shows great engorgement with dilated blood vessels and the mucous membrane covered with glairy mucus. The X-ray examination shows a small, tense colon. When seen with an electric light tube, the mucous membrane is angry and red, but with no ulceration.

All this shows a reaction of the vegetative nervous system. Though it was once regarded as an infection, a causative organism has never been found. Every indication points to the idea that the trouble is not in the bowel, but is a general state of the body—a state of tension of the nervous system.

A careful psychological study showed that in half the patients the attacks were always precipitated by some emotional upset—the breaking off of an engagement in one case, disappointment in a college career in another. Nearly always these develop on the basis of an unstable nervous system. Anxiety states, either with real or fancied bases, were characteristic of a quarter of the patients; a morbid interest—hypochondriasis—affected another fourth.

It is evident that treatment directed at the colon alone is not going to be successful. Everything should be done to relieve irritation of the colon. The cathartic habit should be broken up—no matter how much the patient thinks the tension felt could be relieved by a cathartic, it always makes it worse. A smooth diet such as the following is helpful.

Diet

Breakfast: Orange sections, corn flakes, poached egg, crisp bacon, crabapple jelly, toast, butter, cream, weak tea or coffee.

Dinner: Cream of potato soup, broiled halibut steak, boiled potatoes, spinach, jelly-whipped cream, bread, butter, milk, weak tea.

Supper: Cream of mushroom soup, grilled lamb chop and noodles, ice cream, plain cake, bread, butter, milk, weak tea.

But the great feature in treatment is directed at adjustment of the nervous system to demands and realities of life. It seems queer that a happy marriage can sometimes cure constipation but it has done so.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. "THURSDAY'S CHILD" by VERA BROWN

FROM THE OLD RHYME: "THURSDAY'S CHILD HAS FAR TO GO"

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Words, words. There in the large room, Sonny sat in a deep leather chair which almost hid her from him. She could not understand all that Tom and Hollister were saying. Now and then Tom broke in. They were arguing about inheritance, the trust funds.

"I'm not sure," he said, "that I ask is for Leslie's protection. Tom Her foster-father will back looking for money."

Tom who finally settled down. "I tell you we don't want any more of this. Sonny, I want to get away."

Where?

Just to go in the trailer. Any day you've got to think of your own future."

Tom was to Sonny. Hollister tried to explain. "My wife and I feel that until you young people prove yourselves, Tom should be willing to make some arrangement about inheritance."

Tom smiled. "You mean you want to keep your hands on the purse strings?"

Something like that."

Leslie would do what you ask. Here are the papers."

Then came the signing. Leslie held her dove rights to the trailer estate.

You will have Tom's interest in grandmother's money," Hollister explained. "She'll have everything I have in my name," Tom insisted. Sonny agreed to whatever Tom said.

But I want her to understand, will protect her from blackmail her foster-father," Hollister, Sr., said.

Tom laughed. He was quite aware of his father wanted to protect estate from his wife's claim. "She'll have only $8,000 a year if she'll off."

What a stupid way to talk," his father protested.

Tom jumped up. "Come on, Sonny. Now that everything's set, let's go out here." Hand in hand, the young people went out into the garden. Tom led his wife to the money where she and Kirk stood the night before. He took her hand and slipped a ring on her finger. "That is grandmother's," he said from Weston tonight. It's of date, but some day we'll have it properly."

Like it as it is," said the girl, looking down at the stone, which gleamed heavily on her finger, and adoring vaguely what Tom's grandmother would have thought her.

She stayed on in this never-ending land of the Hollisters for more days. Sonny wanted to get away. She kept thinking about it to Tom. But the Hollisters insisted that they wait.

Tom wanted to get acquainted. He wanted to know Leslie. In the third day Tom was up in the first time he had been before eleven since he came. Sonny could hear him humming in the bathroom as he shaved. He was rushing about the room, busy as a bee.

Tom Sonny joined Tom. He said, "Let's have your ring. I'll take it to the city."

Tom took off the ring, gave it to her, and he put it carefully into his pocket. Then he kissed her good-bye and was off in a great clatter. He was away slowly. Carol was at a house-party. Mrs. Hollister was busy with a luncheon. Sonny was alone down the swimming pool. At tea time, she dropped in and Sonny was to see even her.

"Janice asked."

Which I could interest you in charitable work. There are committees on which you can serve."

Sonny was silent. She ordered but Janice said she preferred to ball.

Where's Tom today?"

"In the city."

"I tried to find Ellen at lunch time."

"That was Janice's game—trying to make her jealous. Sonny wanted to laugh she was so transparent. She must think her an utter fool!"

"Ellen's such a pretty girl," Sonny said.

"She and Tom have been friends for years, childhood sweethearts and all that. You put a pretty crimp into the Hollister and Tarrant plans, Leslie."

"I'm sorry about that. Mrs. Hollister is a darling."

"I'm devoted to her. And I think she's fond of me," Janice went on. "Of course, with things the way they are between Kirk and me, that it fine."

"You'll be married soon?" queried Sonny.

"Nothing as definite as that. Everybody just takes things for granted but I'm in no hurry. I'm having too much fun as it is."

"Fibber," thought Sonny. "She's dying to marry Kirk!" But from what Sonny had seen of Kirk she suspected he would be more difficult to snare than Janice imagined.

Tom came in just as Janice was leaving. He was in high spirits as he kissed Sonny and said "Come on, let's go for a swim."

After an invigorating dip, they lay on the pool's edge watching the setting sun.

"What did the cat have to say?" Tom asked, obviously meaning Janice. "She's trying hard to land old Kirk but he's been worked over by experts." Then he turned over on his back and looked up at Sonny. "I've got a surprise for you."

"What?"

"We're sneaking out of here tomorrow with the trailer. You pack up a few things tonight. You won't need anything but shorts and stuff. We'll go up to Montreal as we planned. I want to find that place near Malone where we camped before."

Sonny's face was radiant.

Later at dinner, Mrs. Hollister asked about Sonny's ring. "It is being cleaned," the girl said.

"You must be very careful of it, Leslie. It cannot be replaced. That is a registered stone."

Neither Kirk nor Carol were home that evening. When dinner was over, Sonny and Tom went for a ride in his roadster. "I want to get the oil changed and get all set," Tom explained. "Mother's going out tomorrow. We'll leave a note. I don't want a row."

"Are you sure they won't be too angry?"

"What's the difference? They'll get over it." Then he added, "I've made a resolution, Sonny. I'm on the wagon. I'm going to be serious about life. I don't care any more about wild parties. We want the same kind of life—the outdoors, no social stuff."

After a pause, Tom continued: "You see, they always push me. Kirk's the bright one. Let him make a name for the Hollisters. I just want to be let alone with you." He touched her hand gently. For the first time Sonny felt she was getting to really know this unpredictable youth.

"All my life I've done — or was supposed to do — what the family demanded. Now, I'm going to begin my own life," he concluded.

Sonny made a resolution to help, to work hard, to be a good wife. Together they could find happiness, she felt sure.

The next forenoon they were off. They headed across Connecticut and into New York's lake district, stopping at sunset near Ashley Falls.

Dinner was a grand affair. Tom raved about Sonny's cooking, which pleased her no end.

At dark, Tom unhitched car from trailer and they drove into Ashley Falls, where they both talked with Tom's folks by telephone. "We should have agreed to your going, Tom. Have a grand time," Mrs. Hollister said. Her husband gave like encouragement to the newlyweds.

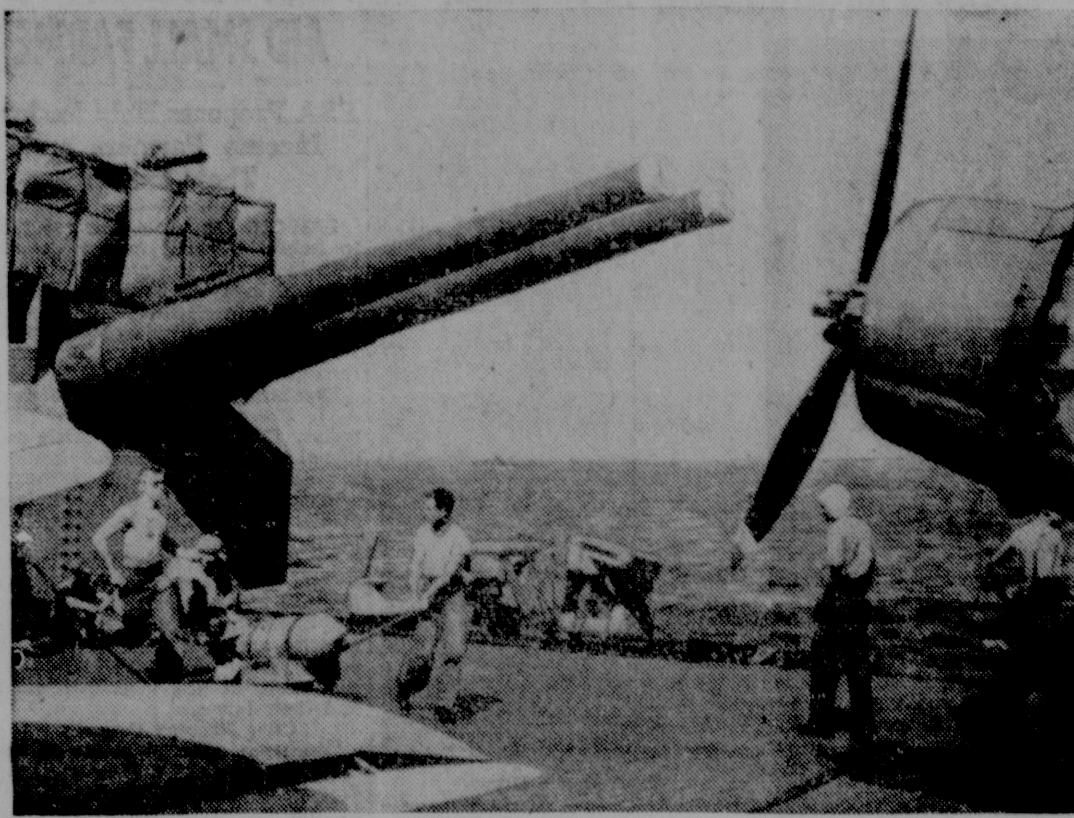

So Tom and Sonny went on their way slowly and finally reached their old camping site near Malone.

MAY 2 IS DATE FOR WHEAT QUOTA VOTE

Date for Balloting Is Announced by Secretary Wickard

COLUMBUS, Feb. 4. — Ohio farmers, who voted counter to the national trend in last year's wheat marketing referendum, will ballot on 1942 quotas May 2.

The date for this year's nationwide referendum was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard in Washington. He explained that quotas were proposed because of surplus supplies from other years.

Reap Within Quotas

AAA records showed that although 52 per cent of Ohio wheat growers voted in the 1941 referendum rejected marketing quotas, 67 per cent of 165,903 farms affected kept within their acreage allotments.

Approximately 20,000 Ohio farms planting 15 acres or less were not affected. Ohio's annual wheat yield approximates 40,000,000 bushels from about 2,000,000 seeded acres.

Wickard estimated the national supply for the marketing year beginning July 1 would reach at record of 1,423,000,000 bushels, about 635,000,000 bushels being surplus from former crops. The 1942 harvest was estimated at 793,000,000 bushels annually for all needs.

Approval from two-thirds of farmers voting in the referendum is necessary for adoption of the quotas, invoked on wheat for the first time last year as the result of an 81 per cent favorable vote.

Penalties are authorized for sale or use of over-quota wheat, the amount being set at half the government's basic loan rate on grain. The 1941 penalty was 49 cents a bushel.

Free of Penalty

Normal or actual production from farmers' AAA wheat acreage allotments may be marketed free of penalty. Farmers whose total production falls below normal may market without penalty an amount

PLAN PROGRAM TO AID SMALL FARMER

FSA Proposes Help for low Income Farmers and Their Farms

LISBON, Feb. 4.—A war program to help the small farmer do his part in serving the nation was announced today by Emil Malinovsky of the Farm Security Administration upon his return from the state farm security administration conference in Columbus.

Speakers at the conference were A. L. Sorenson, state F. S. A. director, Columbus; P. G. Beck, regional director, F. S. A., Indianapolis; B. W. Lodwick, assistant regional director, F. S. A., Indianapolis; Murray Lincoln, Farm Bureau, Columbus.

Farm Security Administration activities have been placed on a war footing, Malinovsky said, with the aim of putting into use the nation's greatest untapped reservoir of manpower and productive land—the thousands of low-income farmers and their farms.

Cites Reserve Capacity

"Immense possibilities lie in the efficient use of the land and the time of the small farm family, just as they lie in the use of the small business man and his plant in industry. Large commercial farmers, like large industrial plants, have approached maximum production through efficient use of men and machinery. But in the small farm lies the reserve capacity to provide the food and fiber we must have for the men in armed forces, for men and women in defense, and for the United Nations—allies in this fight for freedom."

"From now until this war is won, the entire efforts of the United States Department of Agriculture will be directed to all-out production of food, feed and fiber," Malinovsky said. The conference was held in the small farm security administration building in Columbus.

The special job of the F. S. A. will be to help all borrower-families and other small scale low-income farmers produce as much food as possible. Malinovsky said. Working in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture war boards, the Farm Security Administration will issue Food for Freedom loans to those families who with sufficient working capital could produce food for the nation; will help these families preserve and market their surpluses, and give rural boys and girls a chance to participate in this wartime food production and marketing program.

All rural boys and girls seriously interested in any type of agricultural project are urged to contact Malinovsky, at Lisbon.

Goals Are Set

"Minimum goals of food production by families taking part in the F. S. A. program have been set. Among these is the requirement that each family put on at least one acre of land into a family garden; can a one and a half year's supply of food; store 10 bushels of fruit and vegetables for winter use; to produce sorghum, honey, or maple sugar as substitutes for sugar in the family diet; and to provide for family use two or three meat hogs, one veal, and milk for two cows or 90 gallons per person."

In addition, practical help will be offered to other small farmers, farm laborers and part-time farmers whether present F. S. A. borrowers or not. Loans will be made to those who cannot obtain credit elsewhere for help in buying chickens, cows and hogs, and in getting feed, seed, and equipment to produce needed foods.

The plans, to be put into effect immediately, are coordinating with the department of agriculture's "Food for Freedom" program, which is raising the nation's farm production to an all-time record high.

U. S., China Linked To Fight Aggression

The democracies of the United States and China are linked now as never before in the common struggle against militaristic monarchies, Salem Rotarians were told at their meeting Tuesday by Rev. C. R. Strobel, pastor of the New Waterford Methodist church and a former Chinese educator.

Speaking on occasion of the club's observance of China day, Rev. Strobel praised the Chinese as one of the most honorable, cultured peoples in the world. The speaker spent six and one half years as professor of physics and chemistry in the Anglo-Chinese college at Hinghwa, Fukien, China.

The solidarity of the Chinese and American nations had its beginning in 1900 at the close of the Boxer rebellion, Rev. Strobel recalled.

He said that the empress dowager, last ruler under the Manchu dynasty, used the money to establish a university near the city of Peking where leading Chinese students could obtain free schooling, with an opportunity to further their education anywhere in the world. Ninety-five per cent of the Chinese students came to the United States to continue their studies, Rev. Strobel said.

The minister explained that documents have been unearthed proving that the Chinese were a highly cultured race 4,375 years B. C.

He praised the Chinese for their continual respect of youth, parents and old age and explained that home life, for the Chinese means everything. "They follow a paternal philosophy of life," he said.

Divorce among the Chinese was unheard of until recently, the New Waterford pastor continued.

He praised the leadership of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, the Chinese Christian president, and his wife, Madame Kai Shek.

He cited further evidences of the close cooperation between the U. S. and China in this nation's recent five million dollar loan to China and pointed out that now, for the first time in 6,000 years, the Chinese had fought off their own soil, fighting side by side with the Americans and British in Burma.

Rev. Strobel disclosed that the Japanese had interred two of his former co-workers, Rev. Ralph A. Ward, bishop of the Methodist church in China, and Miss Jessie Wolcott, secretary of the Hinghwa mission with which Rev. Strobel was associated.

Rev. Strobel has a son, Robert, who will graduate soon at the U. S. Army Air Corps flying school at Kansas City, Mo.

Machines, Tools Work Overtime to Spur Production

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Feb. 4.—Machines and tools for war production are being shunted from factory to factory like pawns on a chess board.

It's part of a plan to get maximum production out of the machines in the fastest possible time, the regional division of contract distribution announced today.

So far the plan is fully operative only at Toledo, where manufacturers organized themselves into an defense production association, agreeing to lend, lease or sell their idle machinery to others capable of putting them to immediate use.

Pooling of efforts and equipment has created a capacity for handling $200,000,000 more of war contracts, the DCD reported. Toledo at present has contracts totaling about $300,000,000.

To get more contracts, the Toledo association has raised about half a $25,000 fund for maintaining a liaison with contracting departments at Washington.

A survey of tools made by the DCD in Cleveland looks toward this shift of machinery to plants where it can be put to best use.

Lieut. Conn. H. M. Reddall, deputy chief of the Cleveland ordinance district, proposes that "drafted" war-made machines be set up and operated in the underground hall of Cleveland's public auditorium.

City officials indicated their willingness to permit such use of the hall. Under the ordinance district's plan, machines and tools would be bought or leased from the small shops having one or two devices now incapable of turning out war products.

The program would entail extensive repair and adaptation of machines for turning out needed materials, but in time would increase production considerably, it is believed.

Ordinance officers suggested that owners of the "drafted" machines be put to work operating them, without adding to the dislocation problem.

NEW FLAG WILL FLY OVER OLD CITY HALL

An American flag, measuring 5 by 8 feet, will be hoisted to the top of city hall within a few days to replace the present one, which is tattered and torn.

The new flag was presented to Mayor R. W. Johnson yesterday by George E. Whitlock and Andrew MacLeod, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp.

A jagged edge on the roof, over which the flag passes when it is raised and lowered daily by the firemen, will first be repaired.

Where U. S. Navy Strikes at Japanese Islands

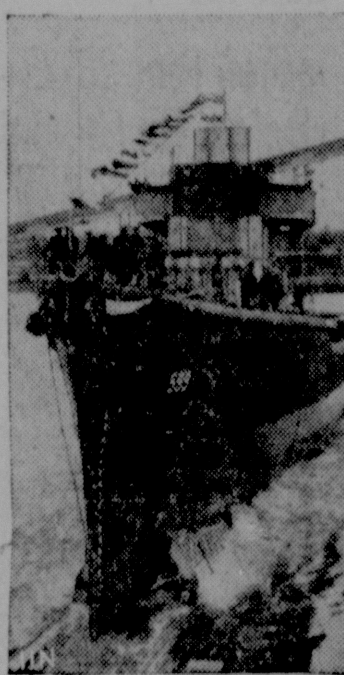

Retaliating for the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor that fateful December Sunday, U. S. navy planes and warships suddenly staged a surprise attack on the Japanese-held Marshall and Gilbert islands in the mid-Pacific, sinking or damaging many enemy auxiliary ships and battering shore installations. Many enemy planes were destroyed on the ground, according to the communique. The Marshall Islands, Japan's easternmost possessions, lie 630 miles southeast of Wake island, U. S. Possession which fell to the Japanese after weeks of resistance, and approximately 2,000 miles from the Hawaiian Islands. The Marshalls were taken by Japan under League of Nations mandate after the first World war. The navy communique announced that 11 American aircraft failed to return from the attack. Also shown on the map is the Dutch East Indies island of Ambon, site of an important Dutch naval base, where Japanese forces have landed.

Fitzpatrick's Conquer Carroll Club In Exciting Battle, 35-32

CADETS TRIM WEST SIDE, 39-26, FOR NINTH WIN IN ROW

Presby: Chalk Up 24-21 Win Over Highly Touted Trojan Five

Putting on a brilliant last quarter spurt which netted them 16 points, the Fitzpatrick Service cagers scored their second close win over the Carroll club this season, 35-32, on the Memorial building court last night.

The game started off slowly, with neither team doing much scoring and it went just that way for three quarters. With the count knotted at 19-19 going into the last quarter, both teams unlimbered their big guns. McLaughlin for Fitzpatrick's and Bob "Buck" Ritchie of the Carrolls began to hit the hoop, Ritchie with regularity.

Having been held scoreless in the entire first half, Ritchie turned on the heat in the second half as he worked from the pivot post. He tallied 15 points in that hectic last half, 10 of them which came in the Carrolls' last quarter bid for victory.

Glenn "Dinty" McLaughlin connected on three long shots to keep Fitzpatrick's right in the game. When Mike Oana went out on fouls for the Carroll club late in the fourth period, the Carroll hopes for victory began to fade. The Ex-Highs really rolled from there on in and won going away.

Bill Schaeffer and Amos Dunlap shared scoring honors for the winners with eight points each while McLaughlin and Knepp got seven and six, respectively.

Ritchie's 15 tallies got high point honors for the Carrolls.

Cadets Win Ninth

The Cadets chalked up their ninth consecutive win last night as they downed the West Side A. C. in a game undecided until mid-way in the final stanza, 39-26. With Deuber "Louie" Miller hitting the iron rim for 14 points, the Class B first round champs pulled away from the West Siders after being held on even terms for over three quarters.

The loss of Wayne Hahn early in the last frame hurt the West Side team somewhat and the Carrolls relied on several points.

Bob Pasco and Wayne Hahn led the losers' scoring with nine and seven points respectively.

In the last game on the schedule, the Presbyterians tallied another win as they defeated the highly-touted Trojans, 24-21. Johnny Hart flipped in eight to pace the Presbys while Johnny "Hoopy" Drakulich hit the same for the losers.

Goshen Pins 25-23 Defeat On Leetonia

Displaying a well-balanced scoring attack which clicked for 15 points in the third period, the Goshen High school cagers eked out a 25-23 win over Leetonia High on the latter's floor last night.

The Leetonians grabbed a 6-3 lead in the first period and extended it to 12-7 at the half. At this point, the Goshenites took over and sewed up the game with a blistering 15-point spurge to take all the fight out of the Leetonia five.

Santee paced the Goshen attack with eight points while Heinz scored the same number to feature for the Blue and White.

In the preliminary contest, the Goshen reserves took over the Leetonians by a 32-25 count.

Friday night the Goshen cagers will journey to North Lima to meet a team which defeated them earlier in the campaign. They hope to avenge that loss by trimming the North Lima boys in their second meeting.

The increase of arc contests didn't receive universal approval.

Roger Peckinpaugh, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, indicated his club might play some of the allotted contests as twilight affairs, starting at 6:30 p. m.

Where Nose Is 'Bull's Eye'

Delegates to the Lumbermen's Convention, like H. L. Monerth of Toledo, Ohio, get the idea very quickly when they pass the anti-Axis exhibit at a New York City hotel. Heads of Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito are spotlighted by their own red noses. Three darts hitting the nose entitle the thrower to a brand new U. S. defense stamp.

cially that counterattacks by reserve-bolstered German divisions around Smolensk and Dnieperpetrovsk in the Ukraine, had been smashed.

"Our troops again advanced," it was stated.

Soviet troops were reported sharply threatening Dnieperpetrovsk, site of a $100,000,000 hydroelectric power dam which the Russians destroyed before it fell into German hands last year.

Rommel Near Derna
On the North African front, the sweep of Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel's axis forces encroached upon Derna, only 95 miles west of Tobruk, after driving the British 160 miles northeast of Benghazi.

British military quarters in London acknowledged that Derna had been abandoned after Imperial Indian rearguards "completed their movement from their last covering positions" and rejoined the main British column.

London quarters, however, declared flatly that the main British force had not yet clashed with Gen. Rommel's army and that only patrol and rearguard actions had been fought.

ASKS BUSSES FOR DEFENSE WORKERS

LISBON, Feb. 4.—C. O. Hawk, local garage operator, has filed an application with the public utilities commission of Ohio for permission to establish two bus routes for the transportation of workers between Lisbon and the ordnance plant at Ravenna, and between Lisbon and Alliance.

The necessity for the routes is said to be due to the shortage of rubber and rationing of automobile tires, and the fact that many local men, and others along the proposed routes, are employed either at the ordnance plant or at Alliance plants working on defense orders.

The busses to be used would have a seating capacity of 30 persons, and three round trips would be made daily on each route.

Three-Million Gallons Capacity Would Remove Shortage Danger

materials probably would be secured. He said that he already had been in touch with the federal agencies.

The proposed reservoir would be 188x188 feet. A total of 1,500 cubic yards of concrete would be needed, at an estimated cost of $15,000. Thirty tons of reinforcing steel would cost about $1,000. Excavation costs are placed at $4,000; form lumber, $2,000; skilled labor, $600; 9,222 lineal feet of 16-inch pipe, $51,624.60, and 700 square yards of repaving, $1,400, according to the engineer's estimates.

Refers To Five Reports

Barckhoff explained that the city has five reports covering its water situation, the first survey having been made in 1915, the second in 1921, another in 1922, still another in 1929 and the one made in 1941 by the firm of Arnold, Rosch and Hartline. All reports have been similar in recommendations to meet increased domestic and industrial water consumption.

The engineer on the 1929 survey predicted that the city would be using 1,200,000 gallons per day in 1940; the 1922 survey estimated 1,350,000 gallons per day for 1940. Actually, last year the city pumped 1,080,000 gallons per day, Barckhoff said. Manufacturers are pumping at least 200,000 gallons a day, raising this figure to 1,280,000.

Barckhoff said it was reasonable to believe that, as one water expert foretold, Salem would be using 1,500,000 gallons per day by 1945 and by 1950 about 1,750,000 gallons a day.

In addition to the reasonable normal demand for water placed upon the city, the engineer pointed out that war pressures bring additional demands. It has been estimated, he continued, that the city can reach 1,800,000 gallons per day by extending the well fields.

WHERE'S THE NAVY? FORGET ABOUT IT

That's Question Jap Propagandists Want You To Ask

tempts to get information. Some of our recent isolationists become, in the Tokyo propaganda, a rapidly vanishing group of American patriots whose words fell on deaf ears.

The billions we now are appropriating are declared to be a waste to fill the void left by our war previous astronomical sums.

Speaks All Languages
Tokyo speaks all languages. It tells the Chinese they shall take the riches formerly enjoyed by the Europeans. But the word to the Filipinos is that they shall be allowed to take over the business formerly owned by Chinese, to the Chinese merchants in the Dutch Indies, that if they cooperate with the Dutch the Japanese will destroy all their property and the sacred burial places of their ancestors.

The Dutch are asked not to destroy their oil but to play safe by recognizing the Japanese control, already declared to be a fact in the western Pacific. The other Indies inhabitants are admonished not to destroy the oil which feeds their homes and brings them food.

Latin America is a continent target. These Americans are asked to ponder whether the North Americans still think the navy can protect the United States. The United States is pictured as trying desperately to get help from the Rio conference. North Americans were said to be hysterical. American women were even asked to wear cotton stockings and shoes. America's well known shortages were enumerated—and chewing gum was added.

South Americans are told Japan has absolutely no territorial ambitions. But South America is said to be in no position to protect itself from Axis powers and is warned not to break diplomatic relations.

The propaganda runs on endlessly in a pattern fixed by experts in Germany.
